Hand to Hand Fights in Belfast Cemetery

Belfast, Northern Ireland, July 17.—(AP)—Hand to hand fighting between the opposing factions of the recent riots broke out again today at a cemetery where the burial services were being performed for a victim of the Protestant-Catholic fighting.

Three persons, including a young boy, were beaten in disorders that broke out while the funeral procession was enroute to the cemetery. The military was called out to rescue the boy from the mob attacking him.

A short time later Francis Birmingham, 19, and Edmund Gallagher, 21, were dragged from trucks they had to be taken to a hospital. A number of shots were heard downtown. They were believed to have been fired in the Carrick Hill district.

Burned Up Road

Cartersville, Ill., July 17.—(AP)—Burning up a road was almost a fact here.

Workmen on a highway project were laying a primary coat of an asphalt mixture containing naphtha. A boy threw a lighted match.

The roadbed caught fire and flames spread for about a hundred feet before workmen could extinguish them. The burned part will have to be re-laid.

BIG GUNS FOUND TO CONTAIN TIN

Uncle Sam's Metallurgists Show Concern Over Newest Discovery

Cambridge, Mass., July 17.—(AP)—Tin in his big guns is causing concern to some of Uncle Sam's metallurgists.

The facts about an unexpected appearance of tin in gun steel, possibly even in armor plate, developed at the conference on spectroscopy at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

The spectroscopist, the glass prism or the ruled grating, with which even the minutest quantities of impurities can be detected, is used at the Watertown arsenal for analyses and armor plate.

The arsenal metallurgists have been regularly analyzing their incoming batches of steel from the mills for traces of molybdenum, nickel, zirconium and titanium. But not for tin. The chemists were the first to catch the tin. The spectroscopist found some more of it.

Traced to Sources

"More and more of everything," said D. J. Crawford, Jr., who made the report, "seems to be going into steel. We have found tin up to .12 per cent in gun forgings. The spectroscopist has detected it in general model metal.

We have traced some of it to its sources. The old cars are thrown into the junk yard, and their metal parts may ultimately go into scrap to be remelted. One might think that tin lizzies was the source of the tin.

"Apparently the tin really comes from tin cans, which are tossed along with the rest of the junk. They contain very little tin. But the small quantity diffuses through the metal when it is remelted."

ROBBERS LEAVE ULTIMATUM AS THEY TAKE $50

Genoa City, Wis., July 17.—(AP)—Making their second raid in two weeks, five robbers today raided the Nippersink hotel and country club and fled with $50.

In the first holdup, July 3, the invaders got $1,000 from the manager, J. C. Smith, the night clerk, Francis Milet, and a bell boy, Angelo Dawagone. Finding only $50 today, Sheriff George O'Brien of Walworth county reported, the robbers told the same victims.

"It's a lot of trouble to hold up this place. We've been very nice, but if you don't produce more dough we're going to blow you heads off."

Smith persuaded them that the money was the total week-end receipts.

Sheriff O'Brien said the description of the robbers answered that of the earlier raiders.

Seek Four Men Who Robbed an Aged Illinois Farm Couple of $14,000 in Govt. Bonds Sunday Night

Effingham, Ill., July 17.—(AP)—A search locally was being made today by Sheriff M. K. Ervin for four men who robbed Mr. and Mrs. Frank Besing of $14,000 in bonds and frightened them into silence by threat of death.

"I think the robbers are from this territory," the sheriff said. "They had to be to know the financial condition of the family."

The Besings, an elderly couple living on a farm southwest of Alton, failed to report the robbery until yesterday, although it was committed Sunday night.

WOODEN LEG OF SANTA ANNA TO BE SEEN AGAIN

State's War Relics to be Taken Out of 11-Years of Storage

Springfield, Ill., July 17.—(AP)—Santa Anna's wooden leg, in storage for 11 years, is again to be placed on exhibition.

The Mexican president and general lost his wooden leg at the Battle of Cerro Gordo on April 18, 1847, when, pursued by the Fourth Illinois infantry, he was forced to abandon his carriage and flee on the back of a mule.

The wooden leg was brought to Illinois by its captors and has been numbered among the war relics of this state for years. Until 1924 it was on exhibition in the war museum in the State House. Expanding state activities at that time required the space devoted to the war museum and Santa Anna's wooden leg, along with many other relics, was sealed in a fireproof vault.

To Provide Exhibit

Adjutant General Carlos E. Black today said plans for the new state arsenal, which is to be built in Springfield, provide for space in which to exhibit war records and that the trophy taken from Santa Anna 88 years ago would again be on view.

The Fourth Illinois infantry, which captured the general's wooden leg, was a volunteer organization recruited in central and southern Illinois.

Soon after it was mustered into service it was sent to Vera Cruz as a part of the expedition to Mexico City headed by General Scott.

The regiment was engaged in a flanking movement near Cerro Gordo when, on the Jalapa road, it came upon the carriage of Santa Anna. The Mexican president fled on the back of a mule, leaving his carriage which contained not only the wooden leg but his lunch and $18,000 in gold.

The soldiers, according to Adjutant General Black, made short work of a lunch and a staff officer confiscated the gold.

David Heagy Given Culvert Contracts

Contractor D. L. Heagy of this city was awarded contracts for the construction of two culverts in Lee Center township by the road and bridge committee of the board of supervisors at a meeting conducted at the office of County Superintendent of Highways Fred W. Leake today. Two bids were submitted on each of the two proposals and in the major project the figures submitted by two contractors were identical.

Robert R. Beard of LaMoille submitted a bid of $1,258.00 for the construction of the Clark culvert, which was the same bid tendered by Heagy. On the Adams culvert proposal Heagy's bid totalled $836.20 while that of the LaMoille contractor amounted to $996.00. The road and bridge committee awarded both contracts to the local builder.

Winter Wheat Harvest in State Disappoints

Springfield, Ill., July 17.—(AP)—Thrashing returns for winter wheat have been disappointing so far in Illinois, the weather bureau said today in its weekly crop report. Small grain harvesting was described as mostly completed in southern Illinois and well under way in the central division.

Working conditions were more favorable during the week ending yesterday, said Meteorologist E. W. Holcomb, but rain is needed in most areas to soften the soil crust, baked by the hot sun.

"Corn made rapid growth and now averages two to three feet high in the north, but is of variable height elsewhere, probably averaging less than two feet," the survey said. "A few early fields in the south are beginning to tassle. Considerable corn is laid by."

Imprisonment in Garret for Five Years With Only Scrap Food Fate of a 'Poor Cook'

Philadelphia Woman Subjected to Unusual Cruelty

Philadelphia, July 17.—(AP)—Grey-haired and hollow-eyed, her body wasted to 70 pounds, Anna Van Cleve stared up from a hospital cot today and offered detectives her only explanation for five years spent locked in a garret prison with only scraps for food.

"My husband didn't like my cooking," she whispered.

She looked all of 80 years—she is 48—when the detectives found her on a bed in a lonely third-story room, bereft of light by boarded windows and nailed-down shades.

Here eyes were sunken deep in her head, and her skin hung on her bones. Sores pocked her face and hands. An old black dress was wound about her, tacked with safety pins.

She clutched bread crusts in each hand. A cup of water and a bucket were on the floor. Beside the bed, the room was furnished with a chair. The door was locked.

Raided Garbage Pail

She had raided the garbage pail for at least one ravenous meal while her alleged captors—her husband, William, 54-year-old window washer, and his sister, Catherine, 57—were away from home the Van Cleve's neighbors said.

They never knew she was there, they said, until they saw wild eyes peering through slits between the boards on the windows.

One neighbor, Charles Osborn, told detectives he tied food to a clothesline prop and hoisted it to her window after he witnessed the garbage pail raid. But she was apparently afraid to take it.

It was in answer to Osborn's pleas that the detectives investigated.

Roosevelt Insists on Tax Bill Passage

Washington, July 17.—(AP)—President Roosevelt today reiterated his desire for enactment of the new tax bill before adjournment of congress.

Talking at his regular press conference he compared efforts on Capitol Hill for a quick adjournment to the tactics of defense lawyers who have a weak case.

He expressed the view that a rich person desiring to avoid a heavy inheritance tax would seek postponement of the legislation.

The president observed that the first move of a lawyer with a weak case would be to move to put the trial over until the next term and, failing, ask for a mistrial because of hot weather.

Roosevelt's words appeared to leave no doubt that he is going to insist on the tax legislation before the weary congressmen get his permission to wind up the term.

READS BAD NEWS FOR ETHIOPIANS

Voliva Sees Outcome of Impending Warfare in Daniel 11:43

Chicago, July 17.—(AP)—Wilbur Glen Voliva, overseer of the religious colony of Zion, Ill., came out today with some bad news for Emperor Haile Selassie I. and all the Ethiopian fans.

Italy will win the threatened Italian-Ethiopian war, said Voliva, who claims the whole thing—war an outcome—is foretold in the Bible.

The old exponent of a flat world, now dieting on nuts and buttermilk in the hope of living to be 100, charted the conflict today out of the book of Daniel.

He thinks Mussolini is "the superman," the "man of iron" whose rise is predicted there, and thinks this is "the time of the end." If that is so, then—

"Mussolini will take over Ethiopia and add the inhabitants to his armies," said the overseer.

Program Will Succeed

"He will then proceed to carry out his program, with designs upon the Red Sea, the Suez Canal, the Mediterranean Sea, Egypt and Palestine."

And those designs will go through too, said Voliva, for he sees in the eleventh chapter of Daniel a flat prediction that the Holy Roman empire will rise again, with the "superman" as its boss.

This in turn leads up to the Battle of Armageddon and the consequent end of the world. Voliva says that is just around the corner—"about 1942 or 43."

The bad news for the Ethiopians is set out plainly, Voliva said, in Daniel 11:43.

Another Suspect in Disappearance Four Illinoisans Jailed

San Antonio, Tex., July 17.—(AP)—Police Chief Owen Kilday said efforts would be made today to take a man held in the Gonzales county jail to El Paso for questioning in connection with the disappearance of four Illinois tourists.

Chief Kilday said the man, Dudley McGinnis, alias H. C. Brown, was wanted in the tourist case by Sheriff Ben Kemp of Socorro, N. M., and that he would be questioned by New Mexico officers.

The officers said they would seek to identify the man and determine whether he is the one who left a string of travelers checks with the forged name of one of the missing persons on them from New Mexico to Dallas. Several checks were cashed at El Paso.

The missing tourists, last seen in New Mexico several weeks ago, were Mr. and Mrs. George H. Lorus and Mr. and Mrs. Albert H. Heber.

Bodies of Three Lake Victims Found Today

Chicago, July 17.—(AP)—The bodies of three men, drowned in Lake Michigan near Hammond, Ind., last Sunday when their row boat capsized, were recovered by the Coast Guard today.

Found floating in the lake several hundred feet apart, the bodies were identified by relatives as those of Edward Bornbraver, 43, Anton Carlson, 30, and Chester Siens, 35, all of Chicago.

Court Guardsmen began a search for the three men Sunday after their careless row boat was found drifting in the lake.

Claim Illinois Farm Income is Up Over Third

Springfield, Ill., July 17.—(AP)—The cash income of Illinois farmers increased more than a third during the first five months of the year, the Illinois and federal departments of agriculture reported today.

Cash receipts from the sale of principal farm products in the state were $31,565,000 in May, compared with $23,123,000 in May, 1934, a gain of 36 per cent, officials said.

REPUDIATION OF GOLD CLAUSE OF DOUBTFUL VALUE

Former Treasury Head, Carter Glass, Sees Injury to U. S. Credit

Washington, July 17.—(AP)—Secretary Morgenthau told a skeptical senate committee today the administration legislation to block dollar repudiation damage suits against the government would improve federal credit.

Morgenthau's assertion was in reply to a question by Senator Glass (D-Va.), Secretary of the Treasury in the Wilson administration.

"You think it will help government credit to formally notify creditors that the government reserves the right to repudiate its indebtedness?" Glass asked.

"It will remove the possibility hanging over the treasury of these possible suits," Morgenthau said firmly.

"I want to know why it will improve the credit of the government to imply there is no moral turpitude in repudiation?" Glass persisted.

Worries Treasury Head

"With the possibility of these suits hanging over our heads, it can't help but be a source of worry because there may be a deluge of them," Morgenthau said.

"It removes your worry," Glass commented, "but does it remove the worry of those who might contemplate buying government securities?"

"The bill says the government will pay 100 cents on the dollar," Morgenthau replied.

Earlier, answering questions by Senator Steiwer (R-Ore.), the treasury chief testified that during the current fiscal year the government expected to face total financing of $9,000,000,000. Of this, $5,000,000,000 would be refunding and $4,000,000,000 new borrowing to meet the expected deficit.

To Seek Huge Loans

Morgenthau said the $5,000,000,000 of securities to be refinanced included $1,278,000,000 of Liberty bonds and $550,000,000 of notes with the gold clause obligation. These maturities, he said, would leave about $8,000,000,000 of gold clause obligations outstanding.

He scoffed at fears expressed by some senators that these would be presented in a great rush to the treasury for cash.

PARK DEATH OF ROCKFORD MAN AN "ACCIDENT"

Belvidere Coroner's Jury Recommends Inquiry Continue

Belvidere, Ill., July 17.—(AP)—A P. M. closing hour and regular patrol for Belvidere park were projected today as a coroner's jury found that Clifford Smith, 20, of Rockford, died after being accidentally cut and dragged by an automobile.

The jury hear the stories yesterday of two of four youths charged with manslaughter in Smith's death, and with a verdict offered a recommendation for further investigation of the incident.

Smith was injured fatally Saturday night when he remonstrated with occupants of an automobile who turned a spotlight on another car in which he sat with three companions.

The coroner's jury was told by Derwood Sylvius, 19, and Maynard John, 19, both of Belvidere, that Smith was cut as he struck at them through an automobile window.

They said they sought to ward off his blows, but denied seizing him or causing him to be dragged as their car was driven away.

Vincent Knox, 19, and his brother Wendell, 17, both of Cherry Valley, Ill., declined to testify. All four were released on $1,500 bond each.

Federal Debt Reached New Peak Monday When It Passed Twenty-Nine Billions, Treasury Says

Washington, July 17.—(AP)—The federal debt has crossed $29,000,000,000 to a new peak.

The treasury's daily statement showed today that on Monday the figure was $29,177,786,318, following the receipt of funds from the recent offering of $500,000,000 in treasury notes.

This is the first big increase in the public debt since December, 1934, a gain of 36 per cent, officials said.

Small borrowings by using its cash resources and as a result of heavier receipts.

The debt is now approximately $2,000,000,000 above what it was a year ago.

The treasury said expenditures for the first two weeks of the new fiscal year, which began July 1, exceeded $500,000,000. The total was $335,246,207, compared with $289,947,862 last year.

He Stuck To It

Peru, Ill., July 17.—(AP)—Using an antique type of revolver Edward J. Clukowski, 22, fired a bullet into his heart yesterday as his estranged wife and her sister looked on.

The sister, Mrs. Hiram Harris, said he pulled the trigger 16 times before the revolver discharged a cartridge.

SEEK DAUGHTER OF MURDERESS

Woman Accused of Lang Death Has 10-Year-Old Girl, Report

Chicago, July 17.—(AP)—The search for Mrs. Evelyn Smith and her Chinese husband, Harry Jung, suspects in the butcher slaying of Ervin Lang, veered to a new course today as investigators began a hunt for Mrs. Smith's daughter.

Through Louis Frank, 63, a tailor, the police said they learned that Mrs. Smith is the mother of a girl, about 10 years old. For four years, Frank said, Jung and Mrs. Smith and the child lived in the rear of a laundry next door to Frank's tailor shop.

Balked in their attempt to break down the alleged story of Mrs. Blanche Dunkel, mother-in-law of Lang, that she had paid Mrs. Smith to execute the murder but took no part in the slaying, the police said they would subject her to a final questioning.

Lang's body, the legs severed at the hips, was found in a swamp near Hammond, Ind.

Story Unshaken

A severe test with a lie detector yesterday failed to change Mrs. Dunkel's story.

Charles S. Dougherty, Assistant State's Attorney, said he was through questioning Mrs. Dunkel and that no more progress can be expected until Mrs. Smith and Jung are found.

Capt. Daniel Gilbert, State's Attorney's investigator, and his assistant, Lieut. Thomas Kelly, however, said they would make one more attempt to break down Mrs. Dunkel's story.

Nazi Eugenic Experts
Extend Olive Branch
to Catholic Clergy?

Berlin, July 17—(AP)—The Catholic clergy's objections to sterilization drew a retort from the Reich today—a decree providing heavy punishment for persons spreading propaganda against the deprivation of procreative powers.

The decree, issued by Dr. Wilhelm Frick, minister of the interior, was regarded by Catholics as a blow against their church. They considered it likely to lead to further estrangement between the church and the Nazi government.

Nazi eugenic experts extended one olive branch to the clergy in an attempt to overcome, at least somewhat, their objections to the sterilization law, backbone of the doctrine of racial purity.

Sterilization of expectant mothers, considered the greatest obstacle in the way of understanding between the church and state, was amended to call for consent by the woman.

McCLURE THINKS
OF CONTESTING
HORNER'S PLANS

Abingdon Democrat is a Likely Candidate for Dem. Nomination

Springfield, Ill., July 17—(AP)—Rep. Frank W. McClure of Abingdon, a Democrat who has regularly denounced the Horner administration, today said he might oppose Governor Horner in the 1936 primary.

McClure issued a statement saying the endorsement of downstate Democratic county committees of the governor are being voted by groups of state employees instead of the regularly elected precinct committeemen.

"There is no question," he said, "that there is wide spread and general opposition among the Democratic voters to the renomination of Mr. Horner."

"However, because of his control of officers of county organizations throughout the state he is able to have snap meetings called where few but state employees are present and have resolutions passed commending him and his administration."

Wants Horner Beaten

McClure frequently attacked the governor on the floor of the House during the 58th and 59th General Assemblies. The Abingdon representative said that, if he becomes an opposition candidate, it would be with no expectation of primary victory but in hope that Horner could be defeated in November, if nominated.

He declared the sentiment of the voters and precinct committeemen was disregarded when the Knox county Democratic committee adopted a resolution endorsing the governor. McClure asserted many members of the Knox committee did not get notices of the meeting, that only 21 of 52 members were present and that votes for the resolution were cast by only sixteen members, all but one of which were state employees or had immediate relatives on the payroll.

Soviet Aviators to Attempt Moscow-
U.S. Non-Stop Jump

Moscow, July 17—(AP)—A single-motored Soviet mystery plane awaited favorable weather today to hop off an attempted 6,000-mile non-stop flight across the North Pole from Moscow to San Francisco.

The flight—promising to be one of the most spectacular ever undertaken—would, if successful, break the non-stop distance record of 5,653.5 miles, set by Paul Codos and Maurice Rossi in 1933 on a flight from New York to Rayak, Syria.

Preparations for the flight were carried out in strictest secrecy. Officials of the Northern Sea Route department, which organized the venture, declined to make public a description of the plane.

Sigmund Levaneffsky, who bears the official title, "Hero of the Soviet Union," was named the leader of the crew of three.

Britain Expects to Release Munitions
Shipment to Ethiopia

London, July 17—(AP)—Usually well-informed quarters hinted today that the British government may soon permit the "legitimate" shipment of arms to Ethiopia, following the receipt of communications from Emperor Haile Selassie of the African empire.

It was said that the emperor had sent official documents from Addis Ababa, attesting to his empire's need of two arms shipments held up here by the British government.

The emperor was said to have stated that the arms were "for the legitimate use of the Ethiopian army." Since this statement conforms to treaty provisions, it was said that Sir Samuel Hoare, foreign secretary, may approve the requests for arms shipments' permits.

DO YOU AGREE?

By Joseph Fort Newton
HERE is the contradiction—we have committed the Golden Rule to memory, but we have committed the Rule of Gold to life.

To control the tongue is the first virtue—he is nearest to the gods who knows how to be silent, even when he is right.

There are four things that never come back—the spoken word, the deed done, the time past and the lost opportunity.

To live in love is to be always young—whenever enters old age by this royal road will find the last of life the best.

Plato was right—every man must have justice; without it character decays, and society rots, stinks, and falls to pieces.

"He that brings sunshine into the lives of others cannot keep it from himself." A commonplace? Yes, like sunlight itself!

The friendship that makes the least noise is very often the deepest and richest—a quiet friend is better than a zealous one.

Men often call themselves poor, said Dr. Johnson, not because they want necessities, but because they have more than they want.

We must learn to deal with the odd and even in life as well as in figures—especially with odd people and events.

As you grow ready for it and worthy of it, somewhere or other you will find what is useful for you in a friend or a book.

My dreams are far away, like purple light on the hills—I may not reach them, but they show the direction I should follow.

Every man has a secret sorrow, which the world does not know; often men think he is cold when in fact he is only sad.

How much easier our work would be if we spent as much time and energy improving it as we do grumbling about it.

Do your work—not just your work and no more—but a little more for love and luck—it is the surplus that really counts.

Let us give thanks for life, in spite of ills—it gives us a chance to love and work to play and to look up at the stars!

OUR CHILD AND THE SCHOOL

By Dr. ALLEN G. IRVING
Director, Physical and Mental Education, New Jersey State Department of Public Instruction

Eating Habits

Consider these bits of common sense.
First of all, what you do do the child imitates. Eating habits are contagious. If you say one thing but do something else, the value of what you say is lost. The child will do as you do. Don't expect anything else. If you do as you do, the model. If you don't eat carrots, don't wonder when your child doubts your assurance that "carrots are good for you." Children aren't that glib.

Avoid forcing. I mean that vigorous, stern insistence—"you shall eat it or I'll know the reason why." Rebellion, resentment, unappetence are the only results. Your chance is lost. Do not discuss food values at length nor in technical terms, such as calories, vitamins, minerals and the like. You may understand them, but children don't, and more, they don't want to.

It is decidedly bad to make children "food conscious." You can do much more by casual, quiet suggestion in a conversational manner, saying, "this milk makes strength" or, "this cheese builds muscle" or, "this fruit keeps you well."

Summer camps—good or bad? Dr. Irving will discuss them next week.

Reunion of Class Of 1898 Monday Eve

A reunion of the class of 1898 of North Dixon High School took place Monday evening at the beautiful home of Representative and Mrs. Frank Wilson north of Waukegan. The event which featured a picnic supper was in honor of Lawrence E. Appleford of San Bernardino, California, with his wife, also a former Dixon girl. Many picnics and gatherings have been held in their honor, since their arrival several weeks ago. Mr. Appleford is conducting a successful confectionery business in San Bernardino. He is an uncle of Mrs. Cal Tyler and they have been visiting at the Tyler home and with the Dickey families, her relatives, and many friends.

Guests present at the enjoyable class reunion were Mr. and Mrs. Appleford, Mr. and Mrs. J. Barre Lennon, Mr. and Mrs. Will Frye, Mr. and Mrs. Ward Hall, and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Valle; the Misses Lottie and Elsie Heckman, Messrs. Angier Wilson, Charles Beede and Clinton Fahrney.

Mr. and Mrs. Appleford are leaving for their home in the west Thursday.

Movie Stars Are Poverty Stricken!

Hollywood, Calif., July 17.—(AP)—John Barrymore is virtually down to his last yacht.

Joan Crawford has more jewels than "Diamond Lil" Mae West.

Charles Chaplin is the wealthiest movie star.

Harold Lloyd is the screen's largest landholder.

These are some of the facts written into the records of the county tax collector, now that the time approaches again for collecting taxes. Many of the stars own property outside Los Angeles county, of course.

John Barrymore's assessed valuation today is $56,575, of which $56,350 is his yacht, The Infanta. A year ago the gross assessment was $96,440, with the yacht on the rolls as worth $59,040.

Joan Crawford and Joe E. Brown share a rare distinction. They are worth more than last year. The assessed valuation of the wide-mouthed comedian this year is $111,155, compared with $55,150 last year. Joan's figure, on the rolls is $66,910, while last year it was $65,965.

Mae West is down for $4,600, mostly jewelry, while the jewelry alone of Joan Crawford is more than twice that assessed valuation.

Charles Chaplin finds the assessed valuation of $2,692,490, compared with $3,051,220 last year, mostly stocks and bonds.

Mary Pickford is listed at $1,465,740, compared with $1,950,770 last year and $2,685,390 the year before.

Lindvall-Jacobs Wedding Tuesday

The couple was attended by the bride's sister, Mrs. Erick Erickson; the bride's brother, Albert Lindvall; and the groom's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bulthaus.

The bride wore a gown of white lace with a corsage bouquet of rosebuds and sweet peas.

A wedding luncheon for the bridal party was given at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Erickson, 820 14th street. Mr. and Mrs. Jacobs left afterwards for a motor trip to the Black Hills in South Dakota, and will return to be at home in Oregon where Mr. Jacobs is employed, after Aug. 1.

The bride was graduated from Rockford hospital school in 1922.

League of Kingdom Ch. Has Party

On last Tuesday, the League of the Kingdom church held its monthly business and social meeting at the home of Lawrence and Alice May Morris. The meeting was called to order with prayer by the pastor, and the business session followed. It was decided that an ice cream social would be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Theo. Hintz on the evening of Thursday, June 18th, featuring the banana split, also cake and pie.

After the business session all were delightfully entertained with many new and interesting games, directed by Mrs. Morris. Sanford and the pastor, Rev. John Buchoff.

Tempting refreshments of ice cream and cake were served by Mrs. Morris.

Culinary Jingles by Marcia Camp

Hop, skip and jump!
Let's see who will beat
For mother has promised
A marshmallow treat.

ECONOMY BUYING

I WISH I had kept count of the exact number of times homemakers have protested, in response to my enthusiasm for marshmallows in cookery. "But you have to waste so many! You can't possibly use more than half a package at a time, and the rest are all dried up before you want to use them again. It's too much of an extravagance for me!" Now campfire marshmallows have furnished the perfect retort to that remark: the triple sealed economy package.

When you buy a pound package of marshmallows nowadays, you really get four separate packages of a quarter pound each. Each one has its own sealed waxed-paper overcoat to keep its contents fresh and tender until you are ready to open and use it; and each contains just sixteen plump, luscious marshmallows. If your recipe calls for less than the whole sixteen in any package, it is highly improbable that the children and men in your family will allow the remainder to go to waste.

When considering the cost of marshmallows, don't forget that their use need not be confined to one dish, or even to half a dozen. If you have used them in your favorite pudding today, you need not wait to use them again until you are ready to repeat the same pudding. Salads, sweet potatoes, candies, cakes, hot beverages, and above all home-made ice creams, all cry out for marshmallows, whether to add new flavor and texture, to extend the quantity, or to substitute for sugar.

And if you have children coming home hungry from school every afternoon, remember that a marshmallow or two is a light, wholesome, quickly digested source of the quick energy they need. Keep a supply always on your pantry shelf.

Auxiliary Meeting Was of Interest

The Horace F. Ortt Auxiliary, No. 540, held a very interesting meeting in G. A. R. hall Friday evening.

Plans were made for a picnic to be held July 28 for members, families and friends. The place for the picnic to be held has not yet been decided.

Mrs. Curtis gave report on a pair of hand embroidered pillow slips which were sold by Mrs. Stella Hippie and herself, making the neat sum of $10.25, for which all the members are grateful. A report was then given on the state encampment which was held June 13, 14 and 15, at Kankakee, by the delegate Mary Benodit.

A very splendid report was given and placed on file.

The president announced three girls to work on the August committee, Alma Adams, Florence Emmole and Josephine Alhouse.

It was then decided to hold a picnic supper by the members of the Auxiliary on the evening of the next meeting, July 26, at 6 o'clock in the G. A. R. hall. The meeting closed, all having had a very enjoyable evening.

1 tablespoon water
Few whole cloves
Make a paste of the sugar, mustard, vinegar and water. Spread over the slice of ham. Stick the cloves in, and put into a hot oven for 15 minutes. Then reduce the heat to moderate and bake for one hour, basting the last fifteen minutes with one cup of ginger ale or sweet cider.

VEAL BIRDS

1 1/2 pounds round of veal
1 cup bread crumbs
2 tablespoons butter
1/2 teaspoon salt
Small onion, chopped

Strain, add lemon juice, seasonings, sauce and the gelatin which has been softened in the cold water. Pour into a ring mold and chill for at least three hours. Unmold on round chop plate on which crisp lettuce has been arranged, and fill the center with veal, chicken or tuna salad, or with a vegetable salad, made of string beans, shredded cucumbers and diced celery. The vegetable salad would be the best, marinated beforehand in a peppery French dressing, then drained, before filling the mold. Garnish with cups made from the tiny inside leaves of the head lettuce, filled with mayonnaise on which there is a sprinkling of paprika and a few tiny pieces of green pepper or parsley. Served with hot buttered rolls and a good dessert, this good looking dish would make a very satisfying "company luncheon," or Sunday night tea.

SHELTERS FOR PICNICKERS

The additional shelters erected by the Dixon Park Board in Lowell park through employment projects were a splendid addition to the park, and to see that they are appreciated one only needs to drive through the park any nice evening. In fact, they are so popular that late comers find themselves out of luck, for frequently they are all occupied, which would seem a good argument for the erection of some more.

BUTLER SPOUTS MORE GOOD SENSE ON WAR

Old Smedley Butler, former commandant of the United States marines, speaks out of turn every now and then and sometimes impresses his fellow countrymen as a bit of a nuisance.

But by the same token he gives them something to think about, every so often; and his latest outburst—on war, the way it gets started, and the people who have to take the rap for it—is something worth listening to.

Representative Louis Ludlow of Indiana is sponsoring a constitutional amendment which would prevent the United States from going to war (except in case of actual invasion by a foreign power) until a nation-wide referendum had been held.

It is General Butler's idea that such a law would have kept us out of the last war and would serve to keep us out of many more wars in the future.

"I have spent my life fighting foreign wars for the United States," he says. "It is true that most of these wars were never declared, but nevertheless good American boys were killed in them. I fought such undeclared wars in Mexico, Cuba, Santo Domingo, Haiti, and Nicaragua.

"In fact, the only time a government declares war is when it wants to mobilize finances and conscript men. That was the case in the Wall Street World War. They only had 48,000 volunteers in 26 days, so they had to draft the men to fight."

And then the general goes on to support the proposal that Americans be forbidden to travel through war zones.

"Of course they have the right to do so theoretically, but they should be prevented from being such fools," he says. "War is a pestilence and the war zones should be quarantined. That means that not only Americans should not be allowed to enter there, but all trade should be banned with both sides. Then we would never be dragged in."

"When I was police commissioner of Philadelphia we put a cordon of police around fires. You might say people had a right to rush into the flames—but we kept them from it."

All of this sounds very much like good, ordinary common sense. After all, it is the plain man who has to do the fighting and stand all the grief when war comes. He doesn't object to it, if the cause is just and the reasons for war are sufficient; but he is entitled to be satisfied that such is the case before the higher-ups put the yoke on his shoulders.

He would view the future with much less uneasiness if he knew, first, that he wasn't being dragged into war to save somebody's business deals, and, second, that no war could come until he had a chance to express himself on it.

FOLLY OF A FASCIST

Luigi Pirandello, famous Italian dramatist, came to America recently en route to Hollywood to do some work with the films. He had been expected to arrive on the French liner Normandie, but when the ship docked Pirandello was not aboard; and it became known that Mussolini, displeased at the sight of an Italian traveling under the French flag, had given him a strong hint to the effect that Italy also has transatlantic steamers and that he would be wise to do his voyaging on them. Pirandello, evidently, took the hint.

Now this is the sort of thing that leaders of all nations are trying to do; and it seems, somehow, to be just a little bit silly.

Transportation systems, one would suppose, ought to exist for the convenience of travelers. Making the traveler exist for the convenience of the transportation system is putting the cart about three miles ahead of the horse.

A BILL SLIPS THROUGH

Spokesmen for the utilities succeeded in crushing the "death sentence" clause in the pending utilities regulation bill in Congress. While they were engaged in this battle, they seem to have overlooked the bill which is designed to extend the life and power of the Tennessee Valley Authority—and they may yet find that they concentrated their attention on the less important issue of the two.

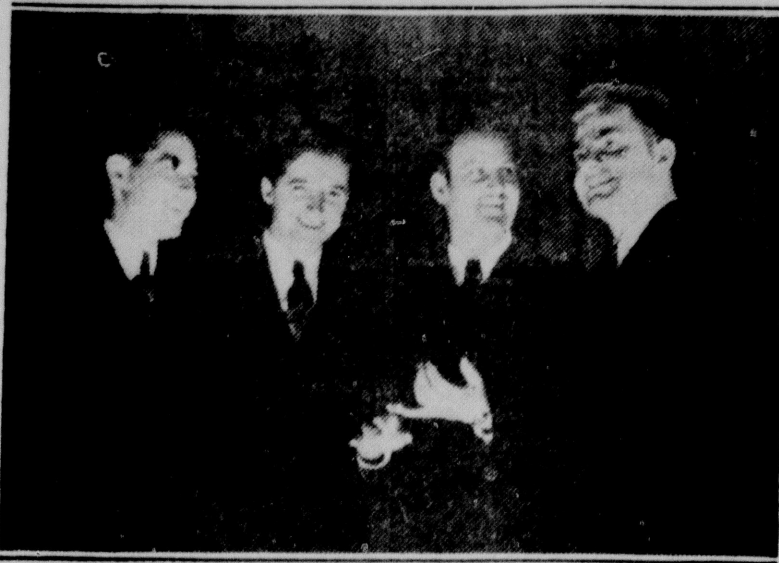

Beaten on the "death sentence," the administration gets the TVA bill in the form it wants. And the TVA, all things considered, may very easily become a more serious threat to utility investments than the bill which was defeated.

It not merely has the government engaged in the power business, it has the government doing so on a grand scale, with an enormous river valley as its domain, under a program whose avowed intention it is to sell the country on the beauties of government ownership.

It is the TVA, rather than any regulatory system, which is the real cloud in the utilities' sky.

DAILY HEALTH

TANNIC ACID TREATMENT OF BURNS

Approximately 10 years ago the tannic acid treatment of burns was introduced. Today it is generally accepted as the best method of dealing with burns when the patient is seen within the first 48 to 72 hours after injury.

When a patient has suffered a burn, it is essential first to treat his general condition. Thus, if he suffers shock, proper measures must be taken to relieve his pain and to restore to normal his respiration and blood circulation.

When the patient is in good constitutional condition, immediate attention is paid to the burn. All clothing debris and loose pieces of tissue are removed.

The burnt surface is then sprayed with a freshly prepared tannic acid solution. Ordinarily a 2½ to 5 per cent water solution is employed. This is rendered alkaline by the addition of sodium carbonate. The spraying is repeated every 15 minutes until a firm, mahogany colored scab covering is formed.

At times, instead of spraying the burnt area, wet dressings are applied. These are saturated in the tannic acid solution and then gently placed over the involved area. They are kept moist and re-applied until "browning" takes place.

When the burn is very extensive, the patient is immersed in a tub containing a tannic acid solution.

When the brown, scab-like layer is formed over the burnt area, no further dressings or sprayings are necessary.

Should infection occur, the membrane over the infection is punctured and treatment applied. If no infection is present, the brown crust is allowed to remain until it comes off spontaneously.

The tannic acid treatment of burns has proved immensely valuable. It relieves pain and prevents the loss of fluid from the body. The crust acts as a protective covering. The tissues destroyed by the burn are fixed by the tannic acid and rendered insoluble. Otherwise they would be absorbed by the body and act as poisons.

THE TINYMITES

(READ THE STORY THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

"A dandy chariot I'm in," said little Dotty with a grin. "I wish somebody else had one. I'd beat them in a race."

"The sea horse that I have is strong. Just watch him travel right along. I'll bet, if I just tell him to, he'll take me every place."

"All right, then, here's a dare from me. Have him pull you out of the sea, and land you on some dry ground," snapped wee Duncy. "Ah, you're stuck."

"You know the sea horse can't do that, and so your little bet fails flat. I will admit, however, that you have a lot of pluck."

"You hold onto the reins real fast and it's a treat, as you go past. I'm going to holler whoa, now, and the horse will stop, no doubt."

Before poor Dotty could yell, no, the land near screamed a real loud "Whoa." The startled little sea horse stopped and threw wee Dotty out.

"Ha, ha! Ho, ho! My, what a sight," exclaimed brave Scouty Tinymite. "I hope you will excuse me, miss, for laughing right at you."

"Oh, that's all right," wee Dotty cried. "I've had enough of that strange ride. However, I'll box little Duncy's ears before I'm through."

She started chasing Duncy, then, but let the little lad go when one of the other Tins said, "Oh, look! A great big chest."

"Let's open it and look inside," "O good idea, Windy cried. "Come on an help me, Scouty. We will do our very best!"

The two tots found a real long stick and one said, "This should turn the trick." Just as they started prying, a big swordfish came along.

Head-first into the chest it went. "Ha, ha! Its funny nose is bent," said Goldy. Then she bandaged it, to once more make it strong.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

Laxatives are only makeshifts. A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. Stubbornly refuse anything else. 25c. © 1934 E. W. CO.

Speaker's Too Hot to Speak

They have hot days down in Tennessee, but Speaker Joseph W. A pretty wedding uniting the lives of Miss Dorothy Nelson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Nelson of Walnut, formerly from here, and Stanley Schrader of Walnut, son of Mrs. Harold Brown of Chicago, took place at the home of Rev. The sister and brother-in-law of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. Delmar Sugars were their attendants. The bride was lovely in a blue and white silk crepe ensemble with matching accessories, her attendant wore a becoming gown of maise and brown crepe with white accessories.

The young couple will make their home in Walnut with the bride's parents for the present. They have many friends here who wish them joy and happiness.

The Lee County members were initiated at the Thirteenth district Legion convention held in Dixon on June 28 and 29.

Friends here of Howard Harvey of Dixon are sorry to hear that he is a patient at the Dixon hospital. While working on the road Saturday a stone flew up and hit him in the eye and in some manner cut it, which required eight stitches to close the gash.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Sanders and son, James, were callers in Sterling on Saturday. Several from here motored to Sterling on Sunday and attended the Tom Mix circus.

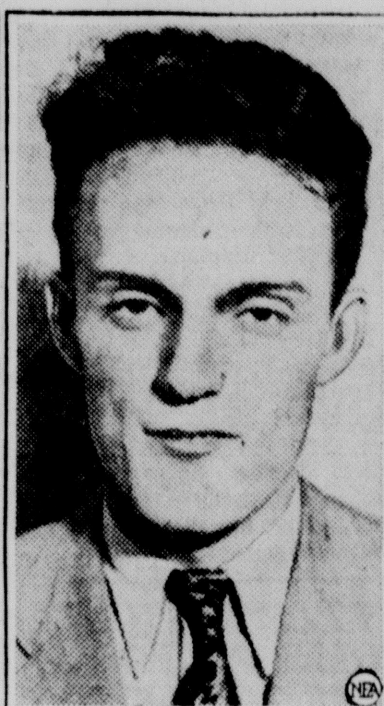

Although early pictures of ostriches showed them calmly swallowing horseshoes, keys, etc., and the early, imaginative naturalists declared that the birds ate nothing but iron, they never explained where this diet was to be found on the African plains.

Stories in STAMPS

POET, LOVER, ADVENTURER

EACH year, on June 10, the people of Portugal honor their great epic poet, Luis Vaz de Camoens. So famous is this man that, in 1924, Portugal issued a set of seven picturesque stamps commemorating the fourth centennial of his birth, and depicting important elements in his career. Great as Camoens was as a poet, he also is known in history as a lover, fighter, adventurer, and soldier. Involved in a brawl with a court official, over the love of a lady of the court, he was banished from Portugal for a time. He went to Africa, and there, in a battle at Ceuta, he lost an eye. But Camoens continued his adventurous career, at the same time composing what has become Portugal's greatest epic poem, the Lusads.

The stamp shown here illustrates the battle at Ceuta, where Camoens lost an eye.

CARDINALS ON WAY TO AGAIN CATCH GIANTS

Terrymen's Lead is Gradually Being Shaved Down

By ANDY CLARK
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

The Red Birds of St. Louis are cutting down the staff on which the Giants hung their pennant hopes.

Even as a year ago, the Cardinals have begun a belated drive which has reduced the league lead of the Giants to four games. The Giants, figured easy winners a few short weeks ago, have been cuffed by injuries and loss of form.

The Cardinals have won a dozen straight games and in a fortnight have cut the New York lead more than they will have to cut it for the remainder of the season to go into first place.

Two of the Giants pitching staff are in the sick bay, and the great portside Carl Hubbell isn't cutting the corners as he has in the past. Hal Schumacher has been pitching great ball, but the Cincinnati Reds thumped him severely the other day.

Weigh this against the case of the Cards. The Deans have hit their stride. Dizzy leads both leagues in the number of games won, and Willie Hallahan has come out of his slump to pitch some of the finest ball of his career.

Pitched 2-1 Victory
Jess Haines pitched the Cards to a 2-1 victory over the Braves yesterday as the Giants dropped another to Cincinnati 7-5. Cantwell of the Braves suffered his 13th straight defeat although he held the Cards to seven hits.

Sammy Byrd, who used to warm the Yankee bench, went to bat twice with the bases loaded and delivered the blows that enabled the Reds to overcome the Giants. In the fourth, with the Reds trailing 1-0, he whaled a double to clear the loaded sacks.

Again in the eighth with the Reds trailing 5-4, he hit a single to score two more runs, and a minute later Riggs brought home another when Stout threw one wild. The Reds chased Parmelee to the showers in the seventh.

Cubs' Streak Broken
The Phillies shelled Roy Henshaw out of the box with a four run blast in the second inning to chalk up a 7-5 victory over the Chicago Cubs, ending their five game losing streak and snapping the Chicagoans' string of eight straight victories.

Old Tom Zachary pulled some of his tricks from his aging satchel to give the Brooklyn Dodgers a 9-3 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates. Johnny Allen returned to early season form as the Yankees, leading the American League, defeated the third place Chicago White Sox.

Vinnie Won't Quit

Injured in an auto accident so badly that his racket activities may be ended, Vincent Richards, one-time Davis Cup and pro tennis star, refuses to quit competitive sports. Here he is, arm in sling, getting the feel of a golf club, with the idea of turning links pro.

FANS SETTLE BURNING QUESTION

When Old Sol's rays became too uncomfortable for the balcony bugs at Shibe Park, Philadelphia, they decided to discard their shirts, roll up their trouser legs, and get a sun tan while watching the game. Here are a few of the Athletics' fans displaying their many forms for the sun to work on.

McCARTHY WILL PILOT YANKEES NEXT TWO YEARS

Signing of "Marse Joe" in New York Dispelled Rumors of Ruth

New York, July 17.—(AP)—Genial Joe McCarthy will rule the Yankee dugout for two more seasons at least.

Col. Jacob Ruppert, owner of the New York team, announced yesterday that McCarthy had been signed for the seasons of 1936 and 1937 at the same salary he now is paid, understood to be $35,000 yearly.

The announcement dispelled the spectre of Babe Ruth, mentioned as a possible successor to McCarthy, who came to the Yankees from the Chicago Cubs in 1931.

Ruppert called baseball scribes into his office before the game with White Sox and told of signing McCarthy.

Not Much To Say

"I don't know that there is much more to say," he said, "except that we are up in first place now and this is as good a time as any for me to show my confidence in McCarthy. He has done a good job for me. I'm completely satisfied showing it."

Ruppert said there was no particular reason for signing the manager at this time except that he probably would not be in New York this winter and that he wanted to get things settled.

Recent visits of Babe Ruth to the Yankee Stadium had revived talk of the Babe's future. There were no bones about the fact that baseball's greatest slugger, whose big mace thumped out many a win for the Yanks, would like to take over the managerial reins.

LITTLE RETURNS HOME TO POLISH HIS GOLF SWING

New York, July 17.—(AP)—W. Lawson Little, Jr. was home and virtually broke today.

He came back from England with his second British Amateur golf crown, but he rose to a third class cabin over the churning propeller of the Majestic.

He admitted that he travelled third class as a matter of financial expediency. He saved $22 a day thereby.

The chunky youth who holds the American Amateur crown as well as the British refused to talk about his conquest in England. If there were any laurels to bestow, he handed them by inference to Tommy Armour of Chicago.

He's going to the mid-west city, his grip in a week of golf lessons. "I've been carrying my right hand a little too far under the club—too much to the right—and maybe the same goes for the left, too," he said.

"It was harder for me to win the British championship this year because I didn't play as well as I did a year ago. However, I don't ever expect to play that well again. I'm still getting distance and a fair shot but I have to 'fight' the ball amount of accuracy with my long to do it. I expect Tommy Armour will be able to provide the remedy."

Little said he didn't intend to play in any tournaments or exhibitions before Sept. 9, when he will defend his American championship at Cleveland.

Baboons were blamed for a series of forest fires in the Drakenstein mountains of South Africa. While hunting scorpions, the baboons were said to roll rocks down the slopes, striking sparks and igniting dead grass.

Omaha And Black Helen Ordered To Get Last Workout

Chicago, July 17.—(AP)—Omaha and Black Helen, the three year old division's top flight pair, were ordered out today for their last workouts before the $30,000 added classic at Arlington Park Saturday.

Both were given the same assignment—a gallop over the classic route of a mile and a quarter. Jim Fitzsimmons, trainer for William Woodward, owner of Omaha, kept to himself what kind of a workout he expected from the colt. Bill Hurley, Black Helen's trainer, said E. R. Bradley's tiny filly would take it easy.

Count Arthur, Mrs. John D. Hertz' candidate for the rich purse, took his final drill yesterday and won many backers by reeling off the mile and a quarter in the excellent time of 2:06.

The first quarter of 1934 showed an increase of 14,000 marriages over the same period of 1933 in England.

BROADMOOR IS TARTAR; LINKS ACES TREMBLE

Find Greens Much Too Fast, Also Deceiving

Colorado Springs, Colo., July 17.—(AP)—Hairtrigger greens of Broadmoor's panoramic battlefield had the shooters wary and somewhat fearful today as the second lap of the Western Amateur qualifying round opened.

So fast and deceiving were the putting surfaces yesterday that only one golfer in the 157 entered Dave (Spec) Goldman of Dallas, Tex.—put a dent in the lay-out's par 70. Goldman, runnerup last year in both the National and Western Amateurs, finished early with a 68.

The next best score was 70, even with the card, which was shared by four aspirants for Zell Eaton's title—Tom Dwyer, Stanford University student; Jack Gaines, Los Angeles; Larry Trickett, young Kansas City star, and Bob Conliff, Jr., Oklahoma City.

Chick Evans, Chicago, who figures he has played in 25 Western tournaments, eight of which he had won, checked in late in the day with a 76.

SALARIES ARE WORRYING IOWA BASEBALL NINES

Des Moines, Ia., July 17.—(AP)—Troubles from opposite ends of the Western league circuit, including player-salaries in Rock Island and protests against umpires in Council Bluffs, were focused in Cedar Rapids today before a special meeting of league officials.

Rock Island was forced to postpone its game last night with St.

Joseph when all but eight Islander players remained in their hotel, instead of reporting at the park, in protest against unpaid back salaries. Earle Brucker, Saints manager, agreed, however, not to demand a forfeit in view of Rock Island financial troubles.

Likewise, at Council Bluffs, although the rails took the field to nick Keokuk for a 6 to 5 victory, grumbled protests echoed against failure of the league to meet back salaries owing before the club franchise was taken over from Omaha owners a month ago.

OBITUARY

MINNIE PEARL HESS

(Contributed)

Minnie Pearl Hess was born in East Jordan Township, Whiteside County on July 8, 1891 and passed away July 12, 1935 at the age of 44 years and 4 days.

She moved to Dixon with the family when a child of 9 years. She attended the public schools and became a member of St. Paul's Lutheran church which she attended faithfully while being employed in Dixon. Later she resided in Lake Forest until illness forced her to give up her duties and enter a sanitarium where she has been a patient sufferer for the past five years. While there her loving disposition and great courage in the face of a losing fight to regain her health, made her many friends who will mourn her passing.

She leaves to mourn her loss two sisters and two brothers, Mr. W. S. Hess, Beloit, Wis.; Mr. Harry Hess, Dixon, Ill.; Mrs. Roy Scott, Dixon, Ill.; Mrs. Stacy King, Perry, Iowa, and four nieces and five nephews whom she loved very dearly, besides other relatives and a host of friends.

Restrain your tears and give instead, A gentle word, a smile. If you really love me, do not cry. Think of me, free of body pain, and your grief Will be changed to a sweet relief.

Savoldi Suspended

By State Athletic Body for One Year

Chicago, July 17.—(AP)—Joe Savoldi, Three Oaks, Mich., heavy-weight wrestler, will have to wait a year before appearing again in Illinois, for his failure to meet Danno O'Mahoney, Irish claimant of the world championship Monday night.

The suspension was imposed by the Illinois State Athletic Commission yesterday, although Savoldi had wired from New York Monday that an injury would prevent him from wrestling.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

For in that He Himself hath suffered being tempted. He is able to succour them that are tempted—Hebrews, 2:18.

When devils will the blackest sins put on, they do suggest at first with heavenly shows. —Shakespeare.

OUR COUNTRY

When from time to time you have been stirred to indignation because of some new example of political racketeering, haven't you often said, "I wish there was something I could do about it."

Well, there is something that you can do about it. Political racketeering is made possible only by organization. And only through organizations, as it is represented by the Crusaders, can you combat the rackets, the incompetence and the lams to which you are opposed. Your voice alone echoes only round your own fireside. Multiplied by thousands it will echo throughout the land.

Take the first step tonight, simply by writing The Crusaders, Box 200, Chicago, Illinois. Become a Crusader. Add the volume of your voice to that of thousands of other right-thinking men and women. Whether you contribute only your moral support to the organization or whether you contribute funds to carry on its work, by all means join. Remember the address, The Crusaders, Box 200, Chicago, Ill.

SUN-TAN

BEGIN HERE TODAY

JO DARLEN, finishing her first year in college, learns her father is out of work. Jo gets a job as bookkeeper in a small marine supply house. She is engaged to BRETT PAUL, athletic star.

DOUGLAS MARSH, handsome wealthy comes to the store to buy equipment for the summer colony he is establishing at Crest Lake. Jo works overtime, assisting with the order, and Marsh asks her to have dinner with him. She agrees. When first telephone Jo tells him she has extra work to do that night.

Marsh takes her to a fashionable restaurant. He tells her about his summer colony at Crest Lake and offers Jo the job of hostess there. Scarcely able to believe such good luck, she accepts.

Next day, following Marsh's instructions, Jo buys the clothes she will need at Crest Lake, charging them to a newly opened account. Bret comes to see her, tells her he knows about her new job. Bret is very angry.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER IX

BRET went on. "You were buying new clothes, weren't you?"

"Why—why, yes."

"And this millionaire you were dancing with last night, just to help out your employer—he paid for them, I suppose?"

Under Bret's withering and sarcastic questioning Jo grew angry.

"Yes, he did pay for them," she said slowly. "I'll tell you the whole story if you'll try to believe me instead of—of Babs Montgomery."

Still Bret did not move from the door, and still his eyes were clouded with a half-puzzled anger. "I'd like to hear it, I'm sure."

Briefly Jo told him how she had met Douglas Marsh, told him about her new job at Crest Lake, and why she had needed a new wardrobe. But all the while she knew that Bret wasn't quite believing her. All the while he stood there watching her as though she were a girl he had never before seen as though she were someone he was trying to place. And when she had finished he said only, "You expect me to believe that?"

"I don't expect anything," Jo retorted hotly. "I'm telling you the truth, Bret. And if you won't believe me I'm—I'm not sure I care."

His eyes widened. "So that's it? You admit you don't care now that you've met this bird with lots of dough?" He smiled bitterly. "I'd heard that girls would change like that overnight—but I'd never believed it much. And least of all I'd never have believed it of you."

"Bret, that isn't it. You know that's not it. But it was a change for me to—to really get along by myself and to help the folks, too. I might be able to save a little and start school again next year." She faced Bret suddenly but her palms against his shoulders. "You know me better than to talk like this, Bret."

"I only know this, Jo. A guy doesn't come along and offer $300 a month and a flock of clothes to a girl he's never seen before, unless he's got something in mind."

Jo sighed and her hands fell helplessly to her sides. There was no way to make Bret see Douglas Marsh as she saw him. If he tried to tell Bret how fine Marsh was, then Bret would only believe she'd fallen for Marsh completely.

"Bret, whatever you think of Douglas Marsh, can't you trust me to take care of myself?" she asked.

HE looked down at her. "I thought I could. But I'm not so sure now that I've seen the way you've fallen for this racket. For two cents I'd write your father and have him stop you from going into this thing!"

The determination in Bret's tone

Although 409 factories in England stopped production in 1933, 463 new ones opened the same year. These new factories put 29,500 persons to work.

Every person should have an accident insurance policy. The Dixon Evening Telegraph has a very wonderful one that costs but $140 a year for a $10,000.00 policy.

NEPTUNE'S NIFTIEST DAUGHTER

Miss Rawls will defend her crown in the 3-meter springboard dive and compete in several swimming events. Miss Rawls, 17-year-old miss of Miami Beach, is shown posed for a spring and in breast stroke action.

started Jo. If he wrote her father, Jo knew, Arthur Darlen would certainly prevent her from going to Crest Lake. He would be as quickly suspicious as Bret was now. Jo's eyes narrowed, and her chin tilted upward a little.

"You haven't the right to advise my father about this," she said quickly. "Because—because you and I are finished."

Bret looked at her a long time, silently and contemptuously. Then he said quietly, "All right, Jo. Goody." The next moment the door had shut and he was gone. Jo heard his heavy, angry footfalls down the hall, heard the clang of the elevator gate as Bret let himself into the automatic car.

For one uncertain instant she was about to follow Bret, crying out to him that she hadn't meant what she'd said. But in a sudden wave of clarity her brain told her she must stand solidly now on her own two feet alone. Fortune had been good to her, unbelievably good, and she mustn't turn back the gift because her emotions wouldn't let her see clearly. If Bret really loved her he would believe in her; he would come back. And if he couldn't believe in her then she had lost him forever.

In a sudden burst of tears she threw herself down upon the davenport and buried her head in her arms. Even when she was no longer sobbing, even when the wells of her grief were dry, she lay there, staring at the pattern of the davenport. Outside the sun sank below the roof tops, and the little room in the Fendale grew dark.

At last, mindful that tomorrow she must make the journey to Crest Lake, Jo undressed for bed. It was only after she had reviewed again and again her argument with Bret, only when she had thought again and again that surely he would telephone for forgiveness that Jo's eyes closed and her young breasts rose and fell rhythmically in sleep.

UNFORTUNATELY there was no night train which made connections with Crest Lake at a decent hour, and the day ride was dreary indeed. But, once the train reached the vicinity of the lake,

Jo laughed. "They certainly did! You would have thought the Princess Marina was shopping. I'm afraid the bill is pretty large, so I hope—"

"Nonsense! I wanted you to do the flying scenery began to take on the lush green charm which was so characteristic of that part of the state. Jo was delighted when at last she heard the conductor call out "Crest Lake Station! . . ." and she could quit the hot green moiré of the train chair.

Crest Lake Station was at least two miles from the lake itself, and Jo was relieved to see Douglas Marsh standing by the tiny yellow building, scanning the length of the car for a glimpse of her. She saw a dark green roadster, smaller and less expensive than the one he'd driven in town, standing by the roadside.

"Hello, Mr. Marsh," she greeted him.

He broke into a wide, relieved smile. "Thank Heaven you're here! You know, I've had the most frightful feeling that you still might kick out on me. Have a nice trip down?"

"Only fair," Jo admitted. "There were three children—all with very sticky fingers—who took a strange liking to me. I adore children, really, but—" she broke off, laughing.

Marsh nodded. "I know. You adore children, but not on trains. Not three at a time, and most certainly not with sticky fingers. That day train is a bore. But you'll feel grand when you've had a tub and dinner, and a glimpse of the lake by moonlight."

They climbed into the little green roadster and Marsh drove swiftly into a forest that at first glance seemed impenetrable but through which a narrow, hard-packed dirt road meandered in its intriguing fashion. Jo breathed deeply of the clear, clean air and thought how good it was to be out of the city—and out of the workaday worry and fretting which was part of it.

"I feel much better already," she confessed with a laugh.

"I'm sure you'll be happy this summer," Marsh assured her. "Did they fix you up at Lytzen's all right?"

Jo laughed. "They certainly did! You would have thought the Princess Marina was shopping. I'm afraid the bill is pretty large, so I hope—" it up right, and I hope you did. He was silent a moment, giving all his attention to the twists of the road. Then he said, "I think I told you that some people call Mother 'eccentric,' didn't I?"

"Yes, I believe you mentioned something about it."

"Of course you'll meet her when we get to Crest Lake, and I want to warn you not to be alarmed or disturbed by anything she may say. She's a very outspoken old lady—and that's probably because so few people have ever had the nerve to talk back to her. She—" he cleared his throat nervously, and began again: "She wasn't very delighted about my idea of having a hostess at Crest Lake."

"Wasn't she?" asked Jo, her heart sinking.

"You see—I'll tell you into the family skeleton closet just so you'll understand better—you see, Dad was a bit of a gadder, I'm afraid. And Mother's always afraid I've inherited the tendency. She may view you with a good deal of suspicion at first. But I know she'll like you once she knows you better."

"I—I hope so," said Jo uncertainly.

"I know she will. The main thing is not to be concerned about it. Just don't let it disturb you."

"I'll try not to," said Jo.

It occurred to her that Douglas Marsh might have been just a little more explicit about his mother before he had suggested Jo come to Crest Lake. The fact that Marsh was speaking of it now at such length surely indicated that Mrs. Aaron Marsh had decided against Jo Darlen even before she had met her. She was probably inordinately jealous of her only son. Perhaps—perhaps something had happened in Marsh's past to make his mother suspicious of an unknown girl to whom he had offered this job. Was this an old story with Douglas Marsh, and was his mother's angry suspicion wholly justifiable? Jo could not bring herself to believe this, but in any event a jealous and unpleasant mother was not likely to increase the joys of a summer at Crest Lake. Jo almost wished she had never climbed aboard that train.
